

Scheduling Your Units of Study

AP World History: Modern

Using your school calendar, count the number of instructional days you have for AP World History this year. Be sure to be mindful of:

- The date of the AP Exam (Wednesday, May __, 2026)
- Days devoted to review at the end of the year (this will vary)
- Teacher work days and district initiatives
- Half days or early release days
- An optional “Foundational Unit” at the beginning of the year.
- A few incidental days (weather, pep rallies, etc.)

Estimated number of total instructional days: _____

The recommended days below give you a range of 113 to 140 instructional days to teach the course.

Unit	Recommended Days	If you Combine Units	End Date
Unit 1: The Global Tapestry; 1200-1450	10-13 days Approx. 9%	1200-1450 20-26 days Or 18% of class time
Unit 2: Networks of Exchange; 1200-1450	10-13 days Approx. 9%
Unit 3: Land-Based Empires; 1450-1750	8-11 days Approx. 8%	1450-1750 30-36 days Or 26% of class time
Unit 4: Transoceanic Interconnections; 1450-1750	22-25 days Approx. 18%
Unit 5: Revolutions; 1750-1900	20-23 days Approx. 16%	1750-1900 32-38 days Or 27% of class time
Unit 6: Consequences of Industrialization; 1750-1900	12-15 days Approx. 11%
Unit 7: Global Conflict; 1900-Present	9-12 days Approx. 8%	1900-Present 31-40 days Or 28% of class time
Unit 8: Cold War and Decolonization	14-17 days Approx. 12%
Unit 9: Globalization; 1900-Present	8-11 days Approx. 8%		